Besim, who began the Halloween Horror Film Festival as early as 2005, is recognised for his atmospheric storytelling and dedication to independent filmmaking.

Michael Bartlett is a director who grew up watching and being inspired by 70s suspense films, he was a regular contributor to the horror genre with his films like The Zombie Dairies and Tree House. MIRANDA MAGEE – Compère

Miranda is a dedicated actress and writer with a strong background in performance and storytelling. She began her acting journey in 1996 at the Birmingham School of Acting (formerly the Birmingham School of Speech and Drama), completing an intensive three-year course. In 2009, she expanded her skills by training in Musical Theatre at the London School of Musical Theatre, where she completed a selective one-year program.

Since then, Miranda has deepened her craft by extensively studying the Meisner Technique with The Salon Collective in London, completing Stages 2, 3, and Text Analysis, and she continues regular training with them. For Miranda, ongoing development is essential to an actor's growth.

Her theater credits feature prominent roles such as the Ghost of Christmas Present in A Christmas Carol at the Stag Theatre in Sevenoaks, Lillian in Bluebeard at The Lion Unicorn Theatre, Taddy Jo in The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas at the Landor Theatre, Hilary Van Zale in the national tour of Fatal Encounter, and Evilia Hardup in Cinderella at the Civic Theatre in Doncaster.

On screen, Miranda has led in feature films including Jacquelyn in Scarred, Princess Elizabeth in The Travelling Companion, Sarah in The Ghost of Life, and Woman in Marriage, the latter earning her the Best Actress award at the NYC Indie Film Awards during the 2017 festival circuit.

Her short film roles include Alice Moore in A Bad Combination, Natalie in In the Shadow in The Light, the Adulteress in The Providence Tape, Ava in Façade, and Hazel in The Kiss of a Wolf.

As a writer, Miranda has penned scripts for short films like A Bad Combination, Deadly Deceit, and The Kiss of a Wolf. Her most recent work, Already Dead, which she also produced and directed, is ready for the festival circuit. She has recently collaborated with filmmaker Hakan Besim on The Purity of Wrath, a horror short filmed on location in Pulborough, West Sussex.
